

NEW YORK COMMITTEE OF GCA

ANNUAL REPORT 2021
BOSCOBEL, GARRISON NY

I contacted Emily Chapman, chair of the New York Committee of GCA. She reported that the committee is working on putting together a speaker series which will launch in September. It will focus on Frederick Law Olmsted's parks in the boroughs of New York City – Riverside Park, Central Park, Queens Park, Prospect Park and his homestead in Staten Island which is now the Olmsted-Bell House and Gardens.

The Olmsted-Bell House would be the recipient of New York Committee funds raised and the dollars would be earmarked for garden restoration projects.

The New York Committee program committee met once and is breaking into small groups to get speakers booked. They are launching the new website at the same time the series is announced and they are selling tickets for these events through the website.

Respectfully submitted,
